I would just like to know why now i'm posted as a user when i've been online as a moderator for the last six months or thereabouts. Can someone in the know give me a reason as originally i wasn't informed about becoming a moderator either !.

Hi kieronr,

For some reason, the system seems to have allocated the status of moderator to a lot of people upon approval of their registration. I went through all the users and only left the status of moderator to the people who actually moderate sections of the forum.

Apologies for the inconvenience ; if you have any queries, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Thanks and kindest regards,
Valerie
